WHAT IS DONE WITH CUSTOMER INFORMATION?

Apart from gathering necessary billing and shipping information for our own use, absolutely nothing. We will never give, trade, or sell any information about our customers. We consider all customer information (addresses, phone numbers, e-mail information, etc.) strictly confidential. Additionally, we do not store any customer credit card information?if ordered by phone, all order forms are shredded daily; if ordered via the internet, our online ordering system does not store credit card numbers. While this may make the re-ordering process (should it be necessary) take a bit longer, we feel that this minor inconvenience is worth the peace of mind for our customers.
